

Bring Daddy Back Your Heart

This song was especially written for my baby girl, Kati Marie. When I wrote this, Kati was going on sixteen and I wanted her to always know that no matter what choices we make, good or bad, she could always count on me to help her go through life.

Kati, I love you forever. You've been such a great daughter.

When I first laid eyes on you
My miracle came true
By the grace of God
You are Daddy's little girl

And I swore on that day
I would never walk away
From your beating heart
Resting right on mine

But, oh, how time goes
In those moments when we know
No more training wheels
Or Barbie dolls for you

CHORUS:
So if your world should fall apart
Bring Daddy back your heart
I'll hold you and wipe away
your tears
No matter what's been done
You are Daddy's number one
You can always
Bring Daddy back your heart

Sometimes I just stood by
I had to let you fly
Like the first time
You drove my car to school

I'm just tryin' to hold on Before I look and you are gone
And I watch you
Walking down that sacred aisle

BRIDGE:
So baby don't let go
This life can hurt you so
All my love remains
I will gladly take your pain

CHORUS:
So if your world should fall apart
Bring Daddy back your heart
I'll hold you and wipe away
your tears

No matter what's been done
You are Daddy's number one
You can always
Bring Daddy back your heart

So if the Lord should come some day
And He takes me home to stay
I'll wait up for you
Just like I used to do

CHORUS:
So if your world should fall apart
your tears
You can always
