

Her Mother And I

We watched him walk
The longest walk of his life
He struggled as he gave me her hand
His daughter, my wife
Who gives this woman to this man?
He replied,

CHORUS:
Her mother and I

Like an angel she appeared
On a cold and winter's night
The doctor smiled, it's a girl
My daughter, my life
With tears of joy, we both cried

CHORUS:
Her mother and I

All those daddy daughter dances
With just her and me
We'd spin around in tiny circles
While she rode there on my feet
She grew up, a chapter closed
Now we'll watch her fly

CHORUS:
Her mother and I

BRIDGE:
He lingered as he stuttered
When he asked for my baby's hand
I paused a little, then I said yes
And thought, what a fine young man
Bitter sweet, we both cried

CHORUS:
Her mother and I

Now it's my turn to take that walk
The longest of my life
I'll struggle as I give him her hand
My daughter, his wife
Who gives this woman to this man?

CHORUS:
Her mother and I

Those four words will be such a hard good bye

CHORUS:
For her mother and I
